Two of Conklin's Murderers Captured and Being Brought to Socorro.

A Very Exciting Day on Wall St. Finally Closes Without a Break.

A Fatal Fracas Between Two Mississippi Farmers—Democrat-ic Caucus.

President Hayes Will Call no Extra Session—The Trial of Col. Cash.

Conklin's Assassins.

Special to the Gazette.
Santa Fe, Feb. 25.—It is reported that the two murderers of Conklin, Abram and Mesias Baca, have been arrested at Ysleta, Texas, by the Texas Rangers, and that they are on their way to Socorro with the prisoners who deny being the right parties, but the officers are convinced that they have the right men.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Feb. 26.—Wall Street and the Stock Exchange were in a whirl of excitement at the opening but as the market grew strong under the impulse of the treasury redemptions what promised to be a memorable financial panic was happily averted, at least for the present.

At the close of business yesterday, the language of a broker, the street was "on end," and many wild rumors were circulated which foreboded stirring and exciting scenes to-day. Long before the doors of the Stock Exchange were open for business New and Wall streets, in the vicinity of the exchange, were filled with knots of anxious brokers from up town who rarely visit the lower regions were business men who do not speculate in stocks, but now in want of money, were there. Customers were out in force at the opening of the market. Faces, which before had been gloomy were wreathed in smiles. Prices were seen above closing figures. Whether the buoyant condition was due to the secretary's order of yesterday was unknown. It was doubtless due in part to that announcement and the moral effect of the knowledge that did the exigency arise the secretary had $16,000,000 a reserve to exhaust in payment for the additional lives and sixes. In addition he would purchase $25,000,000 worth of called bonds. All evidence of a panicky condition in the stock and money market had passed away and by two o'clock there was a good deal of morning among the "lamb's" whose margins had been wiped out by the terrible break in stocks yesterday morning and a large lot of sorrowful looking curb stone operators were to be seen in the main stand in the exchange. The sharp recovery in prices did no good to those who were cleaned out and they sadly mourned what might have been. The decline was so rapid and tempestuous that it is not probable that much discounting was done, notwithstanding that the clique with large short interest started the break with the object of squeezing well known operatives like Gould, who were known to have a long line of stocks on hand. The money that has been made on the street in the last twenty-four hours was made rapidly. The Express says that the bank statement was more favorable than was generally expected, the loss on the reserve being smaller than was looked for under the circumstances. It should be borne in mind, however, that the statement is made on averages and that the full effect of the week's transactions is not reflected in the figures put out by the clearing house to-day. The large loss in specie shows that the banks have put gold into the treasury to retire bank circulation to a great extent in consequence of the scarcity of legal tenders. The increase in legal tenders is probably the result of an influx in consequence of the high rate paid for money at this point. The decrease in circulation is not as large as was anticipated, but as we have said before it should be borne in mind that the statement is made upon averages. The decrease in deposits is enormous, being about $7,000,000 greater than the combined decrease in the loss of specie and circulation. The loss in the surplus reserve is $2,321,900, which leaves the banks with $1,485,325 above legal limit. In reference to the bank average the Commercial remarks: We have reason to believe that today's bank averages are about the last will be reported complete through the clearing houses, as several of the banks will undoubtedly decline to make their averages, acknowledging no obligation to the clearing house to report their condition other than on periodical calls of the Bank Comptroller at Washington. The Stock Exchange will have to change the rule of speculation to cash sales. The one hundred million a day of certification by the National Banks, in utter violation of law, will have to cease. If it be said that the Bank Comptroller sanctioned certifications last year, the reply is that the Comptroller is a subordinate of the treasury, and he will not be allowed to violate the spirit of the law against bank operations.

A "Memorable Day."

New York, Feb. 26.—To-day will be memorable in the history of Wall Street. The lull that followed Sherman's announcement to purchase bonds, was followed by a fall that almost bordered on a panic. All through the forenoon stocks continued to fall. The excitement was intense. On Wall, Broad and New streets small groups of excited men were gathered together discussing the situation. On almost every face there was an anxious expression, and many who had that look trembled with suppressed excitement. The conflict between the banks and the Government seemed to be in favor of the former, for, accordingly as the banks received their checks for bonds just so soon were they deposited with the sub-treasury. The situation was decidedly critical, and every moment the announcement that some house had succumbed was expected, and the suspense and doubt and uncertainty aggravated matters beyond description. Fortunately there was not a single failure, at any rate there was none reported. In the meantime the market continued to fall and the minutes to the closing of the day were anxiously counted. Money was one per cent. for over night. The banks refused all loans and were calling in their loans as rapidly as possible. Some of the best men of the street found for the first time that their personal application for loans was made difficult. The nearest and most concise explanation of the situation, according to the Advertiser was given by George B. Saterlace, President of the Mining Exchange, in this wise: "It is a question in my mind whether a clique of bankers is to dictate to Congress what is for the best interest of the country and to manipulate the money market in order to depress the stock market."

Democratic Caucus.

Washington, Feb. 27.—The Democratic Senators caucused to-day but swore secrecy and say the proceedings will never become public. A Western press reporter learns that the subject of the organization of the new senate was discussed. Thurman, whose duty it is to swear in new Senators, goes out this session and a discussion was held as to his successor. Another caucus will be held before March 4th. No action was taken on the nominations of the President. A committee was appointed to examine the credentials of Senators-elect and discover defects on which objections can be made. It was the unanimous sense of the meeting that the Democrats should maintain control of the Senate.

Fatal Row.

Waverly, Mo., Feb. 26.—Two young farmers, Martin Ross and William Pickett, living near here had a difficulty and Thursday evening they met near the line dividing their farms and after a few angry words Pickett drew a revolver and sent a bullet through Ross' right lung. Several shots were exchanged when finally Pickett fell, pierced through the heart, and died instantly. Ross was wounded in the thigh as well as the lung and cannot recover. Both were highly respected young men. Pickett leaves a wife, having been married only six months and Ross is the oldest son of a widowed mother.

Washington Items.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The conference committee having failed to effect a compromise on the apportionment bill the democrats have agreed to allow all funding bills to come up, but a single objection will prevent it as being out of order, but the House may lay aside the other nine bills if it is so disposed and thus in a short time after concluding the sundry civil bill will reach the funding bill. This will probably be about four o'clock.

It is stated that Blaine will remain in the Senate to fight the battles of the new administration. Should any of Garfield's appointments cause opposition Blaine's influence in the Senate will be needed.

Wool Market.

Boston, Feb. 26.—There has been a large business in the wool market during the past week, the sales comprising 2,282,000 pounds, largely fine Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces. There is no change in the prices, but less on articles destined for market.

The manufacturers are disposed to supply their wants more freely at low prices now current. Offers have also been made for round lots, but the holders hesitate to accept at the comparatively low prices offered. The prospect is now fair for a good business for some weeks.

Fire.

New York, Feb. 26.—A fire broke out at No. 13, Front street, and before it could be checked destroyed and damaged buildings to the amount of $500,000.

Omaha, Feb. 26.—A fire broke out at Wilber, Neb., and the following buildings were burned: Salina Co. Bank, Herman & Co., merchants; Boswell Bros., hardware, and two saloons. Loss about $25,000, on which there was some insurance.

The National Banks.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—The papers generally denounce the short-sighted policy of the National Banks in precipitating a panic for their own gains. The Tribune, an organ of the National Bankers, says if the Carlisle section of the Funding bill is not stricken out most of the banks will retire their circulation.

Threatening.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Secretary Sherman received advices from New York previous to the issue of his order authorizing the Assistant Treasurer, Hiltzhouse, to buy bonds that the financial situation was very threatening, and unless there was a large purchase of bonds made the result would be disastrous.

Mrs. Gladstone.

London, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Gladstone attended the Queen's drawing room reception last night. Her Majesty expressed the desire that Gladstone would not endanger his complete recovery by a too hasty return to Parliament.

Cash-Shannon Case.

Charleston, S. C., Feb. 25.—The jury in the Cash-Shannon case could not agree and the Judge ordered their dismissal. The jury stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction.

Paying the Principal.

New York, Feb. 26.—The sub-treasury reports that to save time it is proposed to pay the principal on bond-bought to-day and the interest hereafter.

Reprieved.

Toledo, Feb. 26.—John Welsh, whose execution was to have taken place at Fremont today, has been reprieved for a week.

Stock.

New York, Feb. 25.—This afternoon all stocks advanced and the Treasurer purchased $4,700,000 of bonds.

Will Not Surrender.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 26.—The National Banks here refuse to withdraw their circulation.

Painful Accident.

Samuel Cameron, a miller at La Cueva, met with a very severe accident on Friday. He was working around the machinery while in motion when he accidentally caught his hand between two cog wheels, which crushed his hand severely. It is likely that his arm will have to be amputated.

Air pillows are the latest invention. They are very convenient institution for traveling.
